Forecast for Thursday 09 May 2024

Weather: Some low cloud covering north-western slopes around dawn, this quickly lifting and thinning during the morning. Some largely clear skies elsewhere, aside for some high cloud giving some hazy sunshine through the day. Feeling warm with light winds.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 70% in the northwest becoming 95% by the afternoon for all.

Low Cloud and visibility: Occasional low cloud in the northwest around dawn with bases around 500m, the highest summits likely to be above the cloud tops. Once this lifts and clears away, little to no cloud below summits is expected. Visibility poor to moderate at first becoming very good by the afternoon.
